House Bill No. 1975

Introduced by CIBAC Party-List Representatives

AN ACT IMPLEMENTING THE PEOPLE’S RIGHT TO INFORMATION AND THE CONSTITUTIONAL POLICIES OF FULL PUBLIC DISCLOSURE AND HONESTY IN THE PUBLIC SERVICE AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Public access to information on matters relating to public concern is a constitutional right, as is written on Article III, Section 7 of the 1987 Constitution:

"The right of the people to information on matters of public concern shall be recognized. Access to official records, and to documents and papers pertaining to official acts, transactions, or decisions, as well as to government research data used as basis for policy development, shall be afforded the citizen, subject to such limitations as may be provided by law."

In spite of this constitutional guarantee, denial of access to public information remains predominant in our country. In this regard, there is an urgent need to enact a law that ensures that the people’s right to access information of public concern is upheld.

This bill seeks to address this existing disparity by providing key measures such as: obligatory publishing of certain information by government agencies even without prior request from the public; full online disclosure of government contracts amounting to at least fifty million pesos (PhP50,000,000); and mandatory production of all government offices, including government-owned or -controlled corporations (GOCCs), of their own Freedom of Information Manual that outlines the processes and procedures the public must know in order to request data.

This bill also sets time limit for the government’s response to requests for public data: fifteen (15) days for both the granted and denied requests, with specified grounds for denial and available remedies to make an appeal for the latter.

This bill further mandates that official communication be conducted using plain language to ensure understanding of all the parties involved in the transaction.

On the other hand, this bill also establishes limitations on said constitutional right by setting limited and strictly construed exceptions on matters of national security, trade secrets, and presidential privilege. Furthermore, it also guarantees the right to privacy of every Filipino and ensures that disclosure of personal data in the custody of the State shall be done in accordance to Republic Act No. 10173 or the Data Privacy Act of 2012.

Stressing this bill’s commitment to upholding the people’s constitutional right to public information, violators of the provisions stated herein will not simply be held administratively liable, but criminally.

Finally, this bill also provides a system of incentives and rewards to boost compliance of government agencies. All funds necessary to implement this measure shall be included in the General Appropriations act.

Government transparency is an effective tool to encourage public participation in the conduct of facilitating the country’s daily businesses. An honest government with transparent systems also encourages investors, thus advancing micro and macroeconomic growth. For this reason, laws that guarantee people’s right to public information have already been adopted all across the world. Yet, the Philippines remains to be behind, as this proposed measure has not been gaining its needed support in the Congress for the past 15 years.

For this reason, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.

The request shall state the name and preferred contact information of the requesting party, and reasonably describe the information required, the reason for the request of the information and the preferred means by which the government agency shall communicate such information to the requesting party: Provided, That the stated reason shall not be used as a ground to deny the request or to refuse the acceptance of the request, unless such reason is contrary to law, public order or public policy. d) The request may indicate the requesting party’s preferred mode and means of receiving the information requested, provided that the mode and means are reasonable, taking into consideration equipment normally available to the concerned government agency.

e) A government agency may communicate the information requested in a form other than the preferred means whenever the agency has no capability in communicating the information in the preferred format, or such preferred means would unreasonably interfere with the effective operation of the agency or be detrimental to the preservation of the record.

f) The government agency shall comply with such request as soon as practicable, and in any case within fifteen (15) working days from the receipt thereof. The period may be extended whenever the information requested requires a search of the government agency’s field or satellite offices, examination of voluminous records, the occurrence of fortuitous events or other analogous cases.

g) The government agency shall, in writing or through electronic means, notify the person making the request of the extension, setting forth the reasons for such extension and the date when the information shall be made available, which in no case shall result in an extension of more than twenty (20) working days.

If the information is not held by the government agency to which the request was made, it shall notify the requester of this fact, and indicate to the requester which agency holds the record, if known. Whenever practicable, the agency receiving the request may also cause the transfer of the request to the appropriate agency that holds the information: Provided, That the period to comply with the request under this Section shall begin to run only upon the receipt of the agency to which the request is transferred.

SEC. 13. SECTION 14. Exemption from Compliance. – A government agency is excused from complying with a subsequent identical or substantially similar request from the same requesting party if both requests will require the agency to provide the same information to the requesting party, unless a reasonable interval has lapsed between compliance with the previous request and the making of the current request: Provided, That the government agency complies with Section 15 of this Act.

SECTION 15. Notice of Denial. – If the government agency decides to deny the request, in whole or in part, it shall, as soon as practicable, and in any case within fifteen (15) calendar days from the receipt of the request, notify the person making the request of such denial in writing or through electronic means. The notice shall clearly set forth the ground or grounds for denial and the circumstances on which the denial is based, and indicate available rights of reconsideration or appeal. Failure to notify the person making the request of the denial, or of the extension, shall be deemed a denial of the request for access to information.

SECTION 16. Remedies in Cases of Denial of Request for Information. –

a) In all government agencies other than the judicial branch:

1) Every denial of any request for access to information may be appealed to the person or office next higher in authority of the same agency, following the procedure mentioned in Section 11 (a)(8) of this Act: Provided, That the written appeal must be filed by the same person making the request within fifteen (15) calendar days from the notice of denial. The appeal shall be decided within five (5) working days from filing of said written appeal; otherwise, the appeal shall be deemed granted.

2) Upon denial of the appeal with the government agency, the requesting party may file a verified petition for mandamus in the proper court, alleging the facts with certainty and praying that judgment be rendered ordering the respondent, immediately or at some other time to be specified by the court, to disclose the requested information. Unless restrained or enjoined, the decision of the court shall be immediately executory without prejudice to review in accordance with the Rules of Court. Any action for administrative and/or criminal liability arising from the same act or omission, if any, shall be filed with the Office of the Ombudsman. No damages shall be assessed against the respondent unless it is proven that the respondent acted with malice, bad faith or negligence. Subject to the provisions of existing laws and the issuances of the Supreme Court, all courts shall give preference to the hearing and disposition of petitions for mandamus filed pursuant to the provisions of this Act. The court hearing the case is empowered to receive the information subject of a claim of exception under Section 7 herein and examine them in camera to determine the sufficiency of the factual and legal basis of such claim, when such sufficiency cannot be reasonably determined through evidence and circumstances apart from the information.

b) In the Judicial Branch, the judiciary shall be governed by such remedies as promulgated by the Supreme Court.

c) The remedies provided in this Section are without prejudice to any other administrative, civil or criminal action covering the same act.

d) The remedies available under this Act shall be cumulative and subject to the rule of exhaustion of administrative remedies.

The provisions of Republic Act No. 9285, otherwise known as the Alternative Dispute Resolution Act of 2004, shall not apply to cases filed pursuant to this Section.

Attorney's Office shall be mandated to provide legal assistance to the requester in availing of the remedies provided under this Act.

received or filed with them and the data generated or collected. These shall include working files such as drafts or notes, whenever these have been circulated within the agency for official purpose such as for discussion, comment or approval or when these contain unique information that can substantially contribute to a proper understanding of the agency organization, policies, transactions, decisions, resolutions, enactments, actions, procedures, operations, and activities. This likewise includes information

Philippines shall likewise identify specific and classes of official records that it shall require agencies to preserve and transfer to it;
