AN ACT
PROVIDING FOR THE MAGNA CARTA OF THE
OUT-OF-SCHOOL YOUTH

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The youth holds the power of tomorrow. If given equal and non-discriminatory opportunities, the young people of today can create endless possibilities for change and innovation in the future.

Section 13, Article II of the 1987 Constitution affirms the State’s recognition of this vital role of the youth in nation-building and declares that it shall promote and protect their physical, moral, spiritual, intellectual, and social well-being, and shall inculcate in the youth, patriotism and nationalism and encourage their involvement in public and civic affairs.

However, based on the 2017 Annual Poverty Indicators Survey (APIS) by the Philippine Statistics Authority, about nine percent of the estimated 39.2 million Filipinos aged 6 to 24 years old were out-of-school children and youth (OSCY). OSCY refers to family members 6 to 14 years old who are not attending formal school; and family members 15 to 24 years old who are currently out of school, not gainfully employed, and have not finished college or post-secondary course.¹

The most common reasons among out-of-school youth for not attending school were marriage or family matters (42.3%), high cost of education or financial concerns (20.2%), and lack of personal interest (19.7%).²

² Ibid.
The challenges faced by the out-of-school youth reflect the undeniable reality of entrenched poverty and social injustice that haunts our country. Thus, it is the duty of Congress to pass laws that will help in our fight against poverty while empowering young people, especially the marginalized, and protecting their rights as enshrined by the Constitution.

This bill seeks to provide for a Magna Carta of the Out-of-School Youth that shall protect, uphold, and expound their human rights as recognized by the State. More importantly, this measure shall mandate an affirmative action program by the government to improve the welfare and quality of life of the out-of-school youth, in the spirit of social justice and equity. This legislation is in line with the Senate Bill No. 920 filed by Sen. Win Gatchalian and Senate Bill No. 1090 filed by Sen. Sonny Angara.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
