HOUSE BILL NO. 8305

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Along the eastern coast of Luzon looms the Sierra Madre mountain range. Known for its biodiversity and natural resources, the range spans 500 kilometers; it covers three regions and ten provinces — Cagayan, Isabela, Nueva Vizcaya, Quirino, Nueva Ecija, Aurora, Rizal, Bulacan, Laguna and Quezon; and — as the storm barrier of Luzon — it helps protect the lives of more than 50 million Filipinos.¹

Four years ago, Super Typhoon Lawin—a signal no. 5 storm—was weakened to signal no. 3 after crashing into the Sierra Madre. And just two years ago, the storm barrier slowed typhoon Ompong’s winds from 200 kilometers per hour to only 160 kilometers per hour.² The Sierra Madre also helped weaken Typhoon Ulysses, whose winds were slowed from 155 kilometers per hour to 130 kilometers per hour.

But continued deforestation will weaken our storm barrier, a danger that is only worsened by outdated forestry laws. Current laws cannot fully stop illegal logging and slashand-burn practices in Sierra Madre. Moreover, its location across several LGUs pose a real challenge in the creation of a unified, long-term plan to conserve and develop the mountain range. These circumstances will endanger the lives of millions of Filipinos who live in the shadow of the Sierra Madre if the government will not take decisive action now.

¹“The Sierra Madre Is Luzon’s Strongest Defense Against Typhoons, So Why Is It In Danger?”
²“Sierra Madre stifles world’s fiercest typhoon this year”
Needless to say, there is an urgent need to enact measures that will address the unique challenges in conserving and protecting the Sierra Madre.

Hence, this Bill.

This Bill seeks to create the Sierra Madre Conservation and Development Authority. The Authority will take the lead in the formulation and implementation of a comprehensive long-term plan designed to conserve and protect the resources within the Sierra Madre region within the framework of sustainable development. As the lead agency for the Sierra Madre, the Authority will be uniting and coordinating the efforts of various LGUs and government agencies.

By creating the Sierra Madre Conservation and Development Authority, Congress helps the State comply with the Constitutional duty to ensure the right of Filipinos to a healthful and balanced ecology in accordance with the rhythm and harmony of nature. The aftermath of Typhoon Ulysses has shown us the importance of conserving the forest cover of the Sierra Madre and further strengthening the storm barrier of Luzon not only for the present times but also for the future generations.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
