EXPLANATORY NOTE

The bill seeks to ensure the protection and conservation of the timberland portion of the Allah Valley Watershed Forest Reserve (AVWFR), declared as a public watershed forest reserve by virtue of Presidential Proclamation No. 2455 on 24 September 1985, as a Protected Area pursuant to Republic Act 7586 as amended by Republic Act 11038, otherwise known as the Expanded National Integrated Protected Areas System Act of 2018. The AVWFR is situated in the Municipalities of Lake Sebu, Tboli, and Surallah in the Province of South Cotabato and Municipality of Bagumbayan in the Province of Sultan Kudarat.

The AVWFR encompasses the high-elevation areas of the Busa Mountain Range, Daguma Mountain Range, Mount Melibengoy, and Mount Three Kings/Talili that serve as the primary headwaters of the many rivers and creeks that flow through the Allah Valley that enables for the agriculture in the landscape to flourish, forming one of the backbones of Southern Mindanao’s economy along with tourism. Tourism in the AVWFR banks not only on the unique geographical features of the landscape, but also on the rich cultural heritage of the Tboli and other indigenous ethnolinguistic groups, such as the Obo-Manobo, Blaan, and Teduray. The longstanding harmonious relationship between the indigenous peoples and the landscape of the AVWFR has allowed for several customs and traditions to form, which are still evident up to this day.

The AVWFR hosts a substantial amount of biodiversity, encompassing at least 27,417.59 hectares or 23.6% of the Mount Busa Key Biodiversity Area (KBA 116), an extremely high conservation priority site in the Philippines. As reported in its protected area suitability assessment, the landscape is home to at least 625 wildlife species, of which 415 species are flora and 210 species are vertebrate fauna. One hundred forty five (145) species are endemic to the Philippines, of which 66 species are Mindanao endemic and 5 species are restricted only to the Southern Mindanao region. The AVWFR is home to the critically endangered and range-restricted Tbol Pitcher Plant (Nepenthes tboli), found only in the high-elevation grasslands of Mt. Melibengoy. Recently, the Guttman’s stream frog (Pulchrana guttmani), lost and feared extinct for 27 years, was rediscovered in the forests of the AVWFR that highlights the ecological and conservation significance of its forests. Its population in the AVWFR is the world’s only known living population of that amphibian species.

There are 78 threatened species in the AVWFR according to Philippine Red List, of which 6 species are Critically Endangered, 19 species are Endangered, 30 species are Vulnerable, and 23 as Other Threatened Species. The most notable of which is the critically endangered Philippine Eagle (Pithecophaga jefferyi) that makes it home to the vast forested areas in the landscape. There are also at least 120 species in AVWFR that are considered economically important. Unfortunately, many factors threatened the rich biodiversity of the AVWFR, such as timber poaching and extraction, forest land conversion, unsustainable agricultural practices, wildlife poaching, and pollution that necessitate urgent need for its protection and conservation.

The rich and complex interactions of the cultural and natural landscapes of the AVWFR very much exemplifies the United Nations Convention on Biological Diversity 2050 vision of “Living in harmony with nature” to which the Philippines is a signatory. This bill does not only support the implementation of the Philippine Biodiversity Strategy and Action Plan 2015-2028 but also protect and advance the constitutional right of the Filipino people—present and future generations—to a balanced and healthful ecology in accord with the rhythm and harmony of nature (Sec. 16, Art. II of the 1987 Constitution).

In view of the importance of this matter, the approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
