(2) No one who is lawfully within the Philippine territory shall be expelled therefrom, whether as an individual or as part of a group, wholly or partially, on account of the acts as a human rights defender.

(3) No one shall be deprived of the right to enter or leave the country on account of one’s status, activities or work as a human rights defender.

SEC. 17. Right to Privacy. – (1) Everyone, whether as an individual or in association with others, has the right to privacy.

(2) The right referred to in subsection (1) includes the right of a human rights defender to protect one’s privacy through lawful means, including encryption of personal data, and be free from arbitrary and unlawful intrusion and interference into one’s personal activities including those concerning one’s family, livelihood and place of work, one’s correspondences and possessions, including all digital data pertaining thereto.

(3) “Intrusion and interference” under subsection (2) include any form of surveillance, recording, within the purview of Republic Act No. 4200, otherwise known as “An Act to Prohibit and Penalize Wire Tapping and Other Related Violations of the Privacy of Communication, and for Other Purposes,” search and seizure in relation to his or her legitimate activity or work as a human rights defender.

(4) The right to privacy extends to groups, organizations, or associations.

SEC. 18. Freedom from Intimidation or Reprisal. – No person shall be subjected to any form of intimidation or reprisal on the ground of or in relation to the person’s status, activities, or work as a human rights defender.

SEC. 19. Right to Establish a Sanctuary for Human Rights Victims and or their Families. – Any person, who has been subjected to any form of intimidation or reprisal, has the right to establish sanctuaries for any human rights violation victim and their immediate families.

Said sanctuary shall be considered established if that person gives confidential notice to the Human Rights Defenders Protection Committee created under this Act indicating that said place, building or area has been constituted as a sanctuary.

SEC. 20. Freedom from Defamation and Stigmatization. – No human rights defender shall be subject to any form of defamation, stigmatization, or harassment, online or in any other means of disseminating information or communicating to the public or technology, and whether by public authorities or private actors, in connection with their work, status, or activities.

SEC. 21. Right to Exercise Cultural Rights and to Development of Personality. –

(1) Consistent with Article 18 (1) of the UN Declaration on Human Rights Defenders, everyone, individually or in association with others, has the right to the unhindered exercise of the cultural rights in one’s activities and work as a human rights defender and to the free and full development of one’s personality.

(2) The right referred to in Subsection (1) includes the right to challenge and change traditional customs and practices that violate human rights and fundamental freedoms.

SEC. 22. Right to Effective Remedy and Full Reparation. – (1) Everyone, whether as an individual or in association with others, has the right to effective remedy and full reparation, both monetary and nonmonetary, in the event of a violation of any of the rights provided for in Chapter II, or a breach of obligation under Chapter III of this Act.
(2) A person whose rights have been violated or who has been adversely affected by a breach of obligation has the right to obtain such effective remedy and full reparation from the appropriate government agency or court of competent jurisdiction.

(3) A complaint with the competent court or tribunal relating to the violation of rights under a breach of obligation under Chapter III of this Act may be filed by the following:

a. a human rights defender;
b. an association of the human rights defender;
c. a legal or other representative of the human rights defender appointed to conduct the affairs of or to otherwise act on behalf of the human rights defender;
d. a family member of the human rights defender;
e. a group, association or organization with which the human rights defender is associated;
f. any person acting in the public interest and consistently in pursuit of the purposes of this Act; and
g. the Human Rights Defenders' Protection Committee.

However, as much as possible, the consent of the victim must first be obtained before a complaint is filed. In the absence of such consent, the human rights organization or association may proceed with filing the complaint or petition unless the lack or absence of consent is based on the threat to the life, liberty, or security of the victim or the victim’s family.

SEC. 23. Limitation on the Rights of Human Rights Defenders. – In exercising the rights vested upon them in Chapter II of this Act, a human rights defender, whether as an individual or in association with others, shall be subject only to limitations that are prescribed by law, and are reasonable, necessary and proportionate in accordance with international human rights obligations and standards. The exercise of such rights shall be made solely for the purpose of securing due recognition of and respect for the human rights and fundamental freedoms of others and should meet the reasonable requirements of public order and general welfare in a democratic society.

CHAPTER III
OBLIGATIONS OF THE STATE AND PUBLIC AUTHORITIES

SEC. 24. Obligation to Respect, Promote, Protect, and Fulfill the Rights of Human Rights Defenders. – Public authorities shall take all necessary measures to ensure: (1) that the human rights and fundamental freedoms in Chapter II of this Act are effectively guaranteed and protected; (2) that all laws, policies and programs of government are consistent with the rights in Chapter II of this Act; and (3) that human rights defenders are able to freely undertake their activities and work in a safe and enabling environment without restrictions.

SEC. 25. Obligation to Facilitate the Activities and Work of Human Rights Defenders. – Public authorities shall take all necessary measures in accordance with law to facilitate and protect the exercise of the rights vested on human rights defenders by Chapter II of this Act, such as by:

a. facilitating or allowing access to places where persons are deprived of liberty;
b. facilitating or allowing access to places and to information required by human rights defenders to exercise their rights;
c. providing information about violations of human rights or fundamental freedoms that may have been committed within Philippine territory or jurisdiction, including those committed by agents of the State in the line of duty;
d. developing and enhancing the capacity of human rights defenders to promote and defend human rights and fundamental freedoms; and
e. recognizing the importance of the role, functions, and activities of human rights defenders.

SEC. 26. Obligation to Provide Free Access to Materials Relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms. – Public authorities shall make freely available and accessible to the public the following materials online and through other modes and platforms of information dissemination:

a. The Constitution, national laws and regulations;
b. International human rights instruments;
c. Research, studies, reports, data, archived information and other information and materials within the possession of public authorities that relate to human rights and fundamental freedoms;
d. Government reports and information submitted to international human rights bodies and mechanisms;
e. Reports and communications of international human rights bodies and mechanisms involving the country’s compliance with international treaty obligations;
f. Documents and information related to the decisions or activities of the Commission on Human Rights and other national authorities with competence in the field of human rights and fundamental freedoms; and
g. All such other information as may be necessary to secure or enable the exercise of any human right or fundamental freedom under Chapter II or access to remedy for violation of any such right.

SEC. 27. Obligation not to Disclose Confidential Sources. – (1) Public authorities shall not disclose or require the disclosure of the identity of sources used by human rights defenders, unless both the relevant source and the concerned human rights defender give informed consent in writing to such disclosure or if so required by an independent and impartial tribunal in accordance with international standards.

SEC. 28. Obligation to Prevent and to Ensure Protection from Intimidation or Reprisal. – Public authorities shall take all necessary measures to ensure the prevention of and protection from any intimidation or reprisal by any other public or private actor. These shall include protection measures established under pertinent laws.

SEC. 29. Obligation to Penalize Intimidation or Reprisal. – Any public authority or private actor who is found guilty of acts of revenge or intimidation against a person on the grounds of or in connection with the person’s status, work, activities as a human rights defender, shall be penalized under the appropriate provision of the Revised Penal Code, in addition to administrative or civil sanctions that may be imposed considering the gravity of the offense, upon the discretion of the court or competent authority.

SEC. 30. Obligation to Refrain from Derogatory and Unfounded Labeling. – (1) Under no circumstance shall public authorities engage in false, unfounded and derogatory labeling of human rights defenders including identifying them as “reds,” “communists,” “terrorists” or “enemies of the State”.

(2) Public authorities shall immediately expunge or rectify such labeling as part of the non-monetary reparation to victims referred to in Section 22 (2) of Chapter II and Section 34 of Chapter III of this Act.

SEC. 31. Obligation to Ensure Protection from Arbitrary or Unlawful Intrusion and Interference. – (1) Public authorities shall take extraordinary diligence to ensure the protection of human rights defenders from arbitrary or unlawful intrusion and interference into one’s personal activities including those concerning one’s family, livelihood and place of work, one’s correspondences and possessions, including all digital data pertaining thereto.

(2) The terms intrusion and interference in subsection (1) include any form of surveillance, recording, search and seizure in relation to any person’s legitimate activity or work as a human rights defender without the person’s consent.

SEC. 32. Obligation not to Participate in Violating Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms. – All public authorities are mandated not to participate, by acts of commission or omission, in violating human rights and fundamental freedoms. Subordinate employees have the right and duty to refuse any order from their superiors to participate in acts that contravene their duty to protect, uphold, and promote human rights and fundamental freedoms, and shall not be subject to any administrative sanctions as a consequence of such refusal.

SEC. 33. Obligation to Conduct Investigation. – Whenever there is reasonable ground to believe that a human rights defender has disappeared, been killed, tortured, ill-treated, arbitrarily detained, threatened or subject to a violation of any of the rights in Chapter II of this Act, whether by the act or upon the direction of a public authority or private actor, the State must ensure that a prompt, thorough, effective, independent and impartial investigation is conducted with extraordinary diligence and is prosecuted under existing applicable laws, including RA 9745, “the Anti-Torture Act”; RA 10353, the “Anti-Enforced or Involuntary Disappearance Act”; and RA 7438, “An Act Defining Certain Rights of Person Arrested, Detained or Under Custodial Investigation as well as the Duties of the Arresting, Detaining and Investigating Officers, and Providing Penalties for Violations Thereof”. The presumption of regularity in the performance of duty by the offending public authority shall not be invoked.

SEC. 34. Obligation to Ensure Effective Remedy and Full Reparation. – Public authorities shall take all necessary measures to ensure that an effective remedy and full reparation are provided for violations of the rights vested upon human rights defenders in Chapter II and for breach of the obligations assigned to State and public authorities in Chapter III of this Act.

SEC. 35. Obligation to Enforce and Institutionalize Command Responsibility. – Government agencies shall enforce and institutionalize command responsibility and impose sanctions against errant superiors in both military and civilian agencies as provided under existing laws and executive issuances.

SEC. 36. Obligation to Adopt Human Rights Based Governance. – Public authorities shall adopt the human rights-based approach to governance and development, including counter-insurgency and anti-terror programs and policies.

SEC. 37. Obligation to Strengthen Protection Program. – The Commission on Human Rights shall strengthen its protection program and provide a safe place of refuge or sanctuary for high risk human rights defenders and or their immediate families, more particularly those who have filed formal complaints against high ranking public authorities.

SEC. 38. Obligation to Respect the Principle of Non-refoulement. – No person shall be forcibly returned, expelled, or extradited to another State where there are substantial grounds to believe that the human rights and fundamental freedoms of the person are in danger of being violated.

SEC. 39. Obligation to Promote and Facilitate Human Rights Education. – All government agencies shall promote, facilitate and adequately provide resources on teaching, training and education about human rights and fundamental freedoms to all persons within the country’s jurisdiction. Teaching, training and education programs shall include information about this Act and the important and legitimate work of human rights defenders.

The Department of Education (DepEd) and the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) shall require human rights education as an obligatory curriculum in all academic institutions, colleges and universities, public or private.

SEC. 40. Diligence Required. – Any complaint or report for violation of human rights and fundamental freedom shall be dealt with and acted upon with extraordinary diligence by concerned government personnel. Failure to act within three (3) days from reporting any violation of this Act shall hold the government personnel criminally, civilly, and administratively liable.

CHAPTER IV
THE HUMAN RIGHTS DEFENDERS PROTECTION COMMITTEE

SEC. 41. Creation and Composition of the Human Rights Defenders Protection Committee. – (1) There shall be an independent collegial body to be known as the Human Rights Defenders Protection Committee, herein referred to as the Committee, that shall be composed of a Chairperson and six (6) Members. The Chairperson shall be selected by the Commissioners of the Commission on Human Rights from among themselves in an en banc session. The six (6) members shall be jointly nominated by two (2) representatives each of the Philippine Alliance of Human Rights Advocates (PAHRA), Karapatan Alliance for the Advancement of People’s Rights (Karapatan), Free Legal Assistance Group (FLAG), and the National Union of People’s Lawyers (NUPL) in a meeting called for the purpose, without prejudice to the nominations of other human

FINAL PROVISIONS
SEC. 50. Implementing Rules and Regulations. – (1) Within sixty (60) days from the effectivity of this Act, the Commission on Human Rights shall, in consultation with PAHRA, KARAPATAN, FLAG, and NUPL, and other human rights organizations and individual human rights defenders of known probity, promulgate the rules and regulations for the effective implementation of this Act, and shall ensure its dissemination to the public.

(2) In formulating the corresponding rules and regulations and in implementing this Act, the following guiding principles shall be strictly adhered to:

a. Adherence to the rule of law is the ultimate safeguard against violations of human rights and fundamental freedoms.
b. Empowerment of human rights defenders is enhanced by their active participation in formulating, implementing, and evaluating protection programs for human rights defenders.
c. Periodic assessments of risks, vulnerability, or conflict help identify protection needs of human rights defenders especially the needs of women and others who are at increased risks.
d. Keeping and maintaining confidentiality of the personal data collected on human rights defenders and those referred to in Sec. 22 (3) herein upholds their right to privacy and security of person.
e. Continuous training of the members of the Committee Secretariat of the Human Rights Defenders Protection Committee on human rights and fundamental freedoms, on root causes of violations against human rights defenders and their work and protection needs help sustain their commitment to the objectives of the Act.
f. Independent and effective operation of the Committee and its Secretariat requires sustained adequate resources.
g. Transparent, aboveboard, and equitable resource allocation and disbursement help ensure maximum protection to human rights defenders and their constituencies particularly those with vulnerabilities and those who are at higher risk.
h. The risks and challenges faced by women and lesbians, gays, bisexuals and transgenders (LGBT) human rights defenders and those working on women’s and LGBT rights and gender issues demand special attention.
i. Generating support from a strong, independent, and effective national human rights institution and from the general public enhances and contributes to the effective work of human rights defenders.
j. Open access to the United Nations and international human rights bodies contributes to a safe and enabling environment for human rights defenders to work in.

AN ACT
DEFINING THE RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS OF HUMAN RIGHTS DEFENDERS, DECLARING STATE RESPONSIBILITIES, AND INSTITUTING EFFECTIVE MECHANISMS FOR THE PROTECTION AND PROMOTION OF THESE RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS

Introduced by: Representatives Edcel C. Lagman, Jose Christopher Y. Belmonte, Carlos Isagani T. Zarate, Ferdinand R. Gaite, Eufemia C. Cullamat, France L. Castro, Arlene D. Brosas and Sarah Jane I. Elago

Committee Referral: COMMITTEE ON HUMAN RIGHTS Committee Chairperson: REP. BAYANI F. FERNANDO

OBJECTIVES:

● To recognize the right of every person, whether as an individual or in association with others, to promote and to strive for the protection and realization of human rights and fundamental freedoms at the local, national, regional and international levels

● To create awareness and encourage the appreciation of the dignity of every human person and to recognize, respect, protect, promote and fulfill the rights and fundamental freedoms of individuals or groups, regardless of race, ethnicity, color, sexual orientation, gender identity, language, religion, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status, and strict adherence to human rights standards and principles enshrined in the Constitution and international human rights instruments.

KEY PROVISIONS:

● Defines Human Rights Defender as any person who, whether as an individual or in association with others, acts or seeks to act to protect, promote or strive for the protection and realization of human rights and fundamental freedoms and welfare of the people, at the local, national, regional, and international levels;

● Recognizes and protects the rights and freedoms of a human rights defender, such as the right to form groups, associations and organization; solicit, receive and utilize resources from domestic and international organizations; and to seek, receive and disseminate information pertaining to all human rights and fundamental freedoms and how they are given effect in the legislative, administrative and judicial systems, and how they are observed, protected and exercised. It also emphasizes the rights against vilification, freedom of movement and right to privacy; and demands freedoms from defamation and stigmatization, and from intimidation or reprisal. It acknowledges the right to establish a sanctuary for human rights victims and or their families, and the right to effective remedy and full reparation for violations of such rights, which shall be subject only to limitations that are prescribed by law and in accordance with international human rights obligations and standards.

● Mandates public authorities to take all necessary measures to ensure that the human rights and fundamental freedoms are effectively guaranteed and protected; that all laws, policies and programs of government are consistent with these rights and that human rights defenders are able to undertake their activities and freely work in a safe and enabling environment—without restrictions.

- Fulfills the State’s obligations as a primary duty bearer, with particular duties not to disclose or require disclosure of the identity of sources used by human rights defenders; ensure the prevention of, and protection from any intimidation or reprisal by any other public or private actor, and to penalize such intimidation or reprisal; not to engage in false, unfounded and derogatory labeling of human rights defenders; and ensure that an effective remedy and full reparation are available for any breach or violation of rights and obligations herein.

- Creates a Human Rights Defenders Protection Committee, which will be comprised of a Chairperson to be selected by the Commissioners of the Commission on Human Rights from among themselves in an en banc session; while the six (6) members shall be jointly nominated by two (2) representatives each of the Philippine Alliance of Human Rights Advocates (PAHRA), Karapatan Alliance for the Advancement of People’s Rights (Karapatan), Free Legal Assistance Group (FLAG), and the National Union of People’s Lawyers (NUPL) without prejudice to the nominations of other human rights organizations who have proven track records of probity and independence.

- Penalizes acts committed in violation of rights stated under Sections 5-16 of this Act, with a penalty prison mayor in its maximum period to reclusion temporal in its medium period without parole for any government personnel or the whole complement of a government unit; and acts which destroy, alter or falsify records and documents, with a penalty of prison mayor in its minimum to its medium period or a fine of One Hundred Thousand Pesos (Php100,000.00) or both, at the discretion of the court.

- Mandates that any complaint or report for violation of human rights and fundamental freedom shall be dealt with and acted upon with extraordinary diligence by concerned government personnel, and penalizes government personnel and for the failure to act on such report or complaint within three (3) days thereof.
